
Mystery Hill

March 1956

Thank goodness! You found the hut. Now the adventure can truly begin.

I had to hide my tools: they would have given away my schemes! You'll need to retrieve those before you can get to the prize.

First, the compass! It's in a leather pouch, and has with it instructions for what to do next. I hid it close to one of my favourite spots. Here is a clue as to where that is.

It has a mouth But never speaks,
A giant cone where hot wind shrieks,
It holds a fire deep down inside,
Where boiling stone and shadows hide,
It isn't a chimney,
It isn't a hill,
But when it wakes it won't be still.

Good luck friends!
